

Cledford
Primary School
a brighter future together

Class Teacher - Mrs Emma Higgins

Inspired by a mum who was a dedicated primary school teacher, I began my teaching career in 1993. 27 years later I am still here and still loving my job! Most of those years have been working in Early Years. I have a particular interest and passion for early reading and phonics, the outdoor classroom and parental engagement within school. I am very lucky to have responsibility for all of these areas at Cledford alongside my role as Early Years phase leader.

When I am not at school, I enjoy taking classes at the gym, walking our crazy cockerpoo Dotty and applying my amateur interior design skills to the various houses we have built and developed.

I love the opportunity to work closely alongside parents in the education of their children within my various roles at Cledford and have seen many changes in learning and education over the years. However, the one constant has always been the children..."Don't ask a child to live in your world...visit their world instead"- author unknown.
